

International Council of Sport Science and Physical Education

The International Council of Sport Science and Physical Education (ICSSPE) was founded in Paris, France and in 2008, celebrated 50 years of Science, Service and Advocacy.

ICSSPE is an international umbrella organisation that promotes and disseminates findings from the fields of sport science and highlights practical applications of this information in cultural and educational contexts.

Our Commitments

We encourage and strengthen international cooperation in the field of sport science.

We inspire, coordinate and move scientific research forward in the fields of sport, physical education and physical activity and foster the practical application of these results.

We provide scientific knowledge of sport and practical experiences for all organisations and institutions world-wide.

We are involved in all areas of sport and sport science and promote the integration of its various branches, disciplines and themes.

Our Vision

We work towards achieving a higher awareness of human values inherent in sport, physical activity and physical education world-wide.

We contribute to the quality of sport, physical education and physical activity for sustainable social development and peace, bridging gaps and fostering tolerance.

A World-wide Network

We maintain strong contacts with governmental and scientific organisations and institutions from around the world and have formal associate relations with UNESCO.

We cooperate with partners in the areas of sport, education, culture and science and are recognised by the International Olympic Committee (IOC).

Science

Using the knowledge and experience of expert organisations and scientific institutions, ICSSPE analyses and initiates research developments across all disciplines of sport science and physical education.

Service

ICSSPE contributes expert knowledge and facilitates the exchange of information between members and partners by organising conferences, meetings and seminars and by using many other methods of communication, including its website and regular publications.

Advocacy

ICSSPE acts as a voice for sport science and physical education world-wide. With conviction and expertise, the organisation encourages international initiatives in order to promote and improve the position of physical education and sport science.

Members

There are approximately 300 organisations and institutions world-wide, which are provided with our service excellence. These members include national and international institutions and federations of scientific and educational disciplines related to sport, sport science and physical education.

Key Benefits of Membership
