

M.A. International Sport Development and Politics

The two-year M.A. International Sport Development and Politics is a one-of-a-kind programme which combines the political, development-related, social and economic aspects of sport into one comprehensive curriculum. Focusing in particular on the international dimension of sport, the programme provides students with a holistic and profound understanding of structures, actors and conflicts in sport. Graduates of the M.A. are qualified for leading positions in sport organisations, NGOs, public administrations, the commercial sports sector and are equally equipped to pursue careers in academia.

The deadline for application for non-EU students is May 31st and for EU students July 15th. All relevant information on the Master's programme can be found at: <https://www.dshs-koeln.de/en/institute-of-european-sport-development-and-leisure-studies/teaching-courses/master-programme/>

Contact: Maximilian Seltmann, Programme Coordinator, master-dev@dshs-koeln.de